Cortelyou Gives Advice to New York Merchants.

HOARDING BAD FOR BUSINESS

Secretary of Treasury in Address Says if Money Is Kept in Free Circulation Commercial Prosperity Must Follow-Go Slow on Currency Reform and New Legislation,

New York, Nov. 14.-George B. Cortelyou, Secretary of the Treasury, preached the need of co-operation between various branches of business and sounded a note of assurance for the business world before hundreds of leading New York business men when he spoke this afternoon as the honored guest at the anniversary celebration of the Merchants' Association of New York.

Secretary Cortelyou said in part: "We have learned some things by experience-recently by a trying experience for many of you-but one from which I hope you are even now rapidly recovering. We have learned, more fully, perhaps, than heretofore, the value of credit in the business world, and have had brought home to us the fact that it is a most delicate part of a most delicate value of co-operation.

Backed Up by Government.

"The financial institutions of this great city have had during the past three weeks one of the severest tests they have ever undergone, and when the people of the country realize, as those of us who are familiar with the conditions realize, what they have done to stay panic and re-establish confidence, the measure of public approval of their service will be large indeed. Other great co-operated, and back of them all has the people, seeking to aid only legitimate road and go to jail. interests and to render assistance to every State and every section:

Now that the financial storm appears to be subsiding, we should turn our attention more and more to the relief of the country at large. In the South and West, on the Pacific coast, and in other sections, able funds for the movement of our crops, for the continuance of other mercantile undertakings, and, what we must not for a moment forget, for the employment of prompt and patriotic response of many appeal of employers for their co-operation. This co-operation, in most cases inigenerously recognized as a distinct step toward a better understanding between employer and employed.

NO "IN GOD WE TRUST" LAW, SAYS ROOSEVELT, BUT THERE IS

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT SAYS:

"When the question of the new coinage came up we looked into the law and found there was no warrant therein for putting 'In God We Trust' on the coins. As the custom, although without legal warrant, had grown up, however, I might have felt at liberty to keep the inscription had I approved of its being on the coinage. But as I did not approve of it, I did not direct that it should again

THE LAW IN THE CASE:

Section 5, Chapter C, "Laws of the United States Relating to Coinage," reads:

"It shall be lawful for the Director of the Mint, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury, to cause the motto 'In God We Trust' to be placed on such coins hereafter to be issued as shall admit of such legend thereon."

This act was approved March 3, 1895, and there is no record of its repeal or amendment. -From the New York World.
